All Around Programmer

With the ability of being an all around programmer, I can not only tell you one thing that I am good! I have always loved coding and i'm always in the need to learn new stuff for my projects. Since i'm 20 years of age, I still have a lot to learn but i'm rushing head first to learn as much as possible! I work greatly with others and always pushing others to do their best then to go even father than that. Since i'm a coder, problem solving is what i'm great at, it's always great to face new challenges.

Work History

Since i'm young, I haven't be able to work with any companies, but I have done some projects for a couple gaming communities. I am currently the web developer and social manager for CyberStorm Gaming. As for them, i'm in the works for creating a moblie app for their website and other side projects, that I have set up for future plans.
